Re: Oil in the storm water drainage ditch at 1280 E. Broadmoor.

On September 6, 2001 (1:30 P.M.) I investigated a complaint of oil in the storm water drainage ditch at 1280 E. Broadmoor. I did see a silver sheen on the water. There was very little flow in the storm ditch. I talked to Jill Mayanovic and she said that the oil appears every time it rains. There was a small rain shower on the evening of September 5, 2001. In addition, it appears that someone dumped oil in the storm box next to her house. I followed the storm box to the corner of Wayland and Kickapoo. At that point, I found what appeared to be oil being discharged into the intake of the storm box. This was on the southwest corner of the intersection. I opened the lid on the storm box and found used motor oil in the storm sewer. The house located on the southwest corner is addressed as 1286 E. Wayland. There was a vehicle in the driveway with an oil pan under it. Ms. Mayanovic stated that she had called the Health Dept. and that J.D. Slaughter was supposed to come out. She said that he was out last year on the same complaint. I told her I would contact Mr. Slaughter and see what he found during his investigation. On September 7, 2001 (9:10 A.M.) I called Mr. Slaughter and he said that he was going to go out today to look at the problem. He said that he had been out last year and talked to the homeowner at 1286 W. Wayland but did not issue a citation. I informed him of what I found during my investigation and he said that he might go ahead and issue a citation for the homeowner at 1286 W. Wayland.
